The Magyar Királyi Ferenc József Tudományegyetem was founded in Cluj (Hungarian: Kolozsvár) in 1872, when Transylvania was part of Hungary. In 1919, after the cession of Transylvania to Rumania, the University moved provisionally to Budapest, reopened in Szeged in 1921. After the Award of Vienna, Aug. 30, 1940, by which Rumania ceded part of northern Transylvania to Hungary, the University returned to Cluj, and a new university, the M. Kir. Horthy Miklós Tudományegyetem, was founded in Szeged. In 1945 northern Transylvania was restored to Rumania. A new Hungarian language university, the Universitatea de Stat cu Limba de Predare Maghiară, later called Universitatea "Bolyai," was created in Cluj in May, 1945. This new university and the Universitatea Regele Ferdinand I took over the property of the Tudományegyetem in July, 1945.
